Global Summary – Risk in Focus 2026/2027

The Global Summary report brings together the key findings from the six Risk in Focus regional studies. Based on more than 3,000 survey responses worldwide, it is an essential resource for internal audit leaders, audit committees, and boards.

This year's European research provides insight into the risks facing organisations and examines how Internal Audit, boards and Audit Committees can respond as risks become more interconnected and develop at greater speed.

The new edition consists of two complementary publications: Risk in Focus 2026/2027: Hot Topics for Internal Auditors and the Risk in Focus 2026/2027 Board Briefing.

Key findings:

- Cybersecurity remains the world's dominant risk, chosen by 80% of survey respondents as one of their five highest risks.
- Digital disruption, including artificial intelligence, ranks second at 58% and rose 10 percentage points over the prior year.
- Geopolitical/macroeconomic uncertainty also increased 10 percentage points, reaching 48%.

- As organizations worldwide experience similar pressures from geopolitical uncertainty and digital disruption, the top risks are also becoming more similar across regions (risk convergence).

ISACA - EU AI Act Audit Assessment Checklist

The EU AI Act is the world's first comprehensive horizontal framework to regulate artificial intelligence, and auditors have an important part to play in making sure their stakeholders are on track to comply with the EU AI Act. Shifting enforcement deadlines should not delay preparations. The regulatory framework of the AI Act remains unchanged. The compliance work that needs to happen is the same work. There is now more time to do it properly.

Download ISACA's EU AI Act Audit Assessment Checklist, featuring expert guidance from Ulrika Dellrud and Poonam Gupta, for pressing considerations that auditors should keep in mind and red flags to look out for as additional EU AI Act enforcement deadlines near.

ECIIA Banking Forum 2026: AI in Banking: From Hype to Value - An Internal Audit perspective

Artificial intelligence is moving rapidly from experimentation to implementation across the banking sector. For Internal Audit, the question is no longer simply what AI can do — but where it can create real value, how its use should be governed, and what effective oversight looks like in practice.

The ECIIA Banking Forum 2026 will bring together research, Audit Committee, supervisory and practitioner perspectives for a focused three-hour discussion on one central question: How can Internal Audit move AI from hype to genuine value?

When: 20 October 2026

Time: 09:30-12:30 CEST
